The Global Goals challenge has progressed well and the trail of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals is in physical place with QR Code at each marker linking to the relevant SDG. (examples below) The associated workshops have included training in setting up the website with links to the other animation and video projects, mosaic sessions for SDG 5, brown trout habitat improvement for SDG 6, a look at all the renewable energy sources in Abriachan for SDG7. The young people involved have come from local schools and the wider Highlands where Trish Matthews works with them as Changemakers. The website is live but the detailed work on each of the goals has still to be completed with specific follow-up challenges set for school groups, families and other visitors using the path network.
